

RECOMMENDATIONS TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF ILLNESS

ON FILM PRODUCTION SETS

The below is a series of recommendations for students to use as guidelines when filming on location or in the Humber studios.

There are many different communicable illnesses that can be easily transmitted from student to student as well as to cast members especially while working in proximity on small poorly ventilated locations. These are recommendations only and not mandatory but it's important to remember that if the entire crew gets sick it could greatly affect your productions.

Always remember when it comes to masking: Masks are optional, Respect is Mandatory

Basic Recommendations:

- Stay up to date with your vaccines (Including COVID-19 and Flu Shot)
- Wash Hands Often, Particularly before and after eating anything.
- If you have any cold or flu symptoms (runny nose, fever, cough, diarrhea, chills) STAY HOME. (Rescheduling of shoot dates will be accommodated in the cases of cast members or key crew members showing symptoms)

Other Considerations:

- If your actors or subjects, ask for masks to be worn during filming then you should absolutely agree to have the entire crew masked.
- It may be a good idea for Sound, and any makeup artists or people with direct close contact with cast members to wear a mask as a standard practice. These people wearing masks can be a sign of respect for the cast members!
- Recommend masks to be worn, especially when in an enclosed space.
- Full accommodation and respect for those who choose to wear a mask on set.
- When you can - eat outside
- When you're not needed - leave the room
- Minimize sharing of equipment and props to an as-needed basis only
